PATROL WHITMAN HOME HAITI ELECTION

Selection of President, Planned for Today, Has Been Postponed Indefinitely.

CAPERTON EXTENDS RULE

U. S. to Decide on Policy in Haiti Before Election Will Be Permitted.

The election of a president for Haiti, arranged by the Haitians in Port au Prince for today, will not take place at

Admiral Caperton reported yesterday that the election, which was to have been made by the Haitian Congress, has been indefinitely postponed. It is under-stood that Admiral Caperton was respon-sible for the Haitian political leaders abandoning their program. It is considered by Admiral Caperton and also by the administration at Washington that it would be most inopportune to have the Halitans choose a president in the present state of affairs in the negro republic. American forces are rap-idly extending their control over Haiti, and will continue to do so until all dis-orders and abortive attempts of the Haitians to use force to settle there are Haitians to use force to settle there po-litical issues have been ended. It is also considered most desirable that no action be taken with reference to the presi-dency until the United States govern-ment has definitely decided on its policy is Haitin

Decision May Be Deferred.

That this decision may be deferred for some time is now believed here. It has been indicated that the policy of the ad ministration at present would be to let Admiral Caperton proceed with his most effective measures for the restoration of seace and order in the negro republic before attempting any decision as to political affairs. The question is only one of degree. It has already been de-termined that the American forces shall not leave Haiti until some arrangement has been effected by which better condi-tions may be assured for the future. It has not yet been determined, however. to what lengths it may be necessary for this government to go in order to achieve this object. Solon Menos, Haitian Minister to the United States, called at the State De-partment yesterday to discuss the sit-uation with Secretary Lansing. Acting on representations made to him by a group of Haitians of prominence in Port au Prince, the Minister urged that some assurance be given the Haitian people that the United States has no intentions of effecting any permanent impairment of the sov-reignty of Haiti It is understood that Secretary Lansing did not go further than to assure the Haitian Minister that the United States desires nothing for itself in Haiti.

According to Admiral Caperton, quiet again prevails in Port au Prince and Cape Haitien. There was some shooting Friday, in which two Haitians were killed by the American forces. The fighting occurred when Admiral Caperton's forces moved upon the office of the port and took charge of it. Practically all the port and other civil government branches of the capital are now in the hands of the American forces, under command of Capt. Beach, of the cruiser Washington. Fride, forces, under command of Capt. Beach, of the cruiser Washington. Fridage the Haitian gunboat Pacifique arrived at Port au Prince from Cape Haitien and was taken over by the Americans. Mimiral Caperton had ordered all softiers not residents of Port au Prince to leave the city. There has been some resistance to this order, and the American authorities have placed under arrest all Haitian soldiers found in the city in violation of the admiral's commands.
